USB SHIELDS ►

Prevent Juice Jacking!

Charging electronic devices in a public place exposes them to a new type of cyber attack. The power supply and data stream pass over the same cable which allows for 'juice jacking' during the charging process. The hacker gains access to your phone by leveraging the USB data/power cable to illegitimately access your phone's data and inject malicious code on to the device.

By using the USB Shield to charge your phone, you avoid any data transfer and keep your device safe!
